A MESSAGE TO YOUNG PEOPLE.....

I do not wish them an easy success, nor seas of plain sailing, nor lives of ease that make for fatheadedness. But for happiness through work, that is worth a toast to youth. We can help by opening the doors of information by showing to young people what it is that makes the wheels go around; by providing as many opportunities as possible for them to get a start; and by being their teachers, coaches, and trainers as long as we remain leaders.

The will forget us and possibly jostle us off the bench, which is natural, but some of our better ideas may take root in their minds and grow in the future to limits beyond our conception.

As go the young people of today, so goes not only the business world of tomorrow but also our nation. We should pass on to the younger generation our store of wisdom and experience.

A SMART LEADER

BEST WISHES

WE, TOO, ARE INVOLVED!

The Booster Club was formed in May of this year and the membership is still growing. Fund raising, selling, etc. will be kept to a minimum. Season tickets will be our main objective for 74-75.

The main purpose of the club is to promote Wheeling College in the Ohio Valley through the support of it's growing basketball program.

Membership is open to any individual who has an interest in and appreciation of the best in small college athletics and who enjoys the fellowship and fun of sharing this interest with other members of the club.

For membership information contact:

The OVAC Story

Tonight's Ohio-West Virginia Charity All-Star Football Game is the third held under the auspices of the Ohio Valley Athletic Conference, which has been an integral force in Ohio Valley scholastic sports for more than three decades.

Fan support of the mid-summer grid classic since the OVAC assumed sponsorship has been heartening. Two years ago, the first game was played at Martins Ferry Stadium because of heavy damage sustained by Wheeling Stadium from the damaging floods in the spring of 1972.

The game, despite a heavy rainstorm which hit the area just before game time, drew a capacity audience. A year ago, the game returned to Wheeling Stadium and was played before a capacity crowd of more than 10,000.

The OVAC people worked diligently to present a first class event and the fans response was overwhelming. Thus, one of the truly fine sporting events in the Ohio Valley was back to stay.

Just as important the all-star game became a fine attraction for the sports fans was the benefits derived from the OVAC venture.

The conference does not gain financially at all from the game. Proceeds are used to assist education and charitable organizations throughout the Ohio Valley. Nearly $20,000 from the initial two games has been used to assist various Ohio Valley organizations and educational facilities.

What, then, does the OVAC derive from all of the effort necessary to stage such an attraction?

Having been close to these people during the last two years, I would say the principal benefit they receive is personal satisfaction. Satisfaction of helping, satisfaction of providing an all-star game for the top football Performers of the past season, satisfaction of providing a top-notch sporting event for the fans who have been loyal to our prep athletes down through the years.

You could say the satisfaction of knowing that a half dozen or so athletes received an opportunity to further their education because of the game and the satisfaction that some less fortunate youngster is better off today because of assistance provided to valley agencies caring for crippled and retarded youngsters.

The OVAC was also pleased that Stone and Thomas of Wheeling resumed sponsorship of its Queen of Queens Pageant when the game was renewed two years ago. Thus, several dozen girls annually have a chance to participate in a meaningful experience, to gain new friends and thus become part of a traditional event which adds spice and color to the football extravaganza.

Undertaking of such a project is an excellent example of the outstanding work done by the Ohio Valley Athletic Conference in the support of valley athletes. The efforts of Game Director Rudolph Mumley, his associates, and Mrs. Marjorie Lyon, coordinator for the Stone and Thomas Queen of Queens Pageant, are to be commended.

It was in 1943 that birth was given to the OVAC. A handful of Ohio Valley educators felt the need for an organization which would help to stimulate and promote a diversified program of competitive high school athletics in the Ohio Valley.

Today the OVAC is the largest organization of its type in either Ohio or West Virginia, and possibly among the largest in the entire country. Its reputation is widespread and its format is used as a model by schools in a large number of states.

Consolidation cut down on the membership from a high of about 50 in the 1950's and early 60's, but the popularity of the OVAC has grown in recent years and it now encompasses 45 schools in 13 counties in Eastern Ohio and the Northern Panhandle of West Virginia. Additional growth of the conference is possible within the foreseeable future.

Schools in the OVAC sponsor up to nine different sports and the conference supervises tournament and championship meet in all of these sports.

Another major contribution of the OVAC has been its administration of scholarships through the generosity of Ohio Valley businesses and industries. Presently, the OVAC administers scholarships provided by the Morris Plan Bank of Wheeling, Picoma Industries of Martins Ferry, Pepsi-Cola Bottling Co. of Moundsville and Parkersburg and the Ohio Valley Board of Approved Umpires. These scholarships total more than $2,000 annually.

Because of its limited budget, many organizations and business people assist the OVAC annually with the presentation of trophies and other awards for its champions in the various sports.

Basically, the objective of the OVAC has been and will continue to be the promotion of all high school athletics and to serve in the overall development of proper school relationship, scholarship and sportsmanship within the conference.

In this respect, the OVAC has performed admirably.

OVAC Welcomes Osiris Shrine

The Ohio Valley Athletic Conference is pleased to welcome the Osiris Shrine to tonight's third annual Charity All-Star Football Game.

To many, the sight of the Shriners in their special garb is a familiar one and we sincerely hope it was a welcome one to our fans tonight.

The Shriners are known world-wide for their benevolent work, particularly for their hospitals for crippled children and for the care of burns victims.

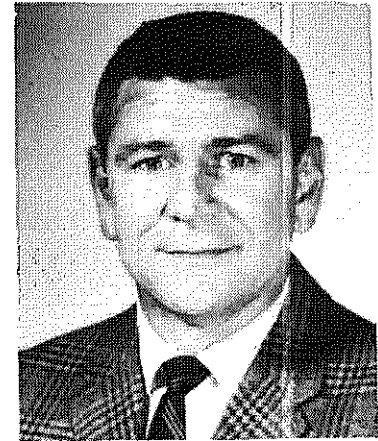

Annually, Shriners raise millions of dollars for the operation of these facilities where thousands upon thousands of youngsters have been treated, regardless of race, nationality or religion.

This year, the Shriners will receive a major portion of the proceeds of this game so they can continue this fine work. We are pleased that the Shriners, in turn, have offered their help to the OVAC by handling the parking and selling of programs. Earlier this week, the Shriners were host to the all-star gridders for an informal dinner, after which they showed the all-stars a film of a past East-West Shrine Game and some clips of the work done at the 22 Shriners' Hospital in the United States.

The Shriners have shown a tremendous interest in the All-Star Game and have backed up this interest with a sincere desire to assist. We of the OVAC appreciate this display of interest and hope that this spirit of cooperation will continue in future years.

by Skip Stogsdill

You're only two, my son
Yet already you're a competitor.
You love to throw balls of all shapes and sizes
run pellmell toward a goal
take on your older sister scramble to be first in line . . .

I admire your zest
but I am afraid for you.
What will sports offer you in another decade?
Some stars seem avaricious
egoistic.
Some games seem computerized dehumanized.
Some fanatics seem bent on burning out a boy
before he even reaches puberty.
Son, what if you're not fast or strong enough
to become a starter
or even make the team?
Can you still enjoy sport for the sheer fun of it?
Maybe you're injured.
Will there still be a place for you?
Will those whom you trusted still care?
Suppose you make All-Conference or All-State.
Can you handle the clippings?
the recruiters?
Son, how can I help you develop your skills prudently?
To know the satisfaction of a touchdown scored winning basket
tape broken first
bases loaded hit?

And yet learn vital values
Like choosing worthy friends
refusing drugs and liquor
guarding against mind pollution
controlling your sexuality putting others first?

I don't know all the answers, son.
I can't prescribe your athletic future.
But for now we can play together
dream together
pray together
discuss life together . . .

Until that time when you must Make that awesome decision whether or not
To be God's man in every sense of the word
like Jesus.
Be like him, son.
The struggle is great—but so are the rewards
And the world needs you.
Needs your sturdiness
tenderness
exuberance
honesty
love.

Go with God, my son.
And may your athletic experiences help you become
All he wants you to be.

Reporter: "Do you find the Chicago Bears have very complicated plays?"

Coach: "I've talked with some defensive players and they are all pretty simple!"

"And the Baltimore Bolts . . . I mean Colts . . . beat the White Sox this afternoon . . . The White Sox? That should be the Chicago Bears, and it wasn't this afternoon, it was yesterday!"

"UCLA may be ahead 17-0, but let's not give up on the Stanford team. Known as notoriously slow starters, the game is still young. After all, the game is in the first quarter and only four years have lapsed . . . I'm sorry, it seems that minutes are years in this stinking game!"
