The Samuel A. Mumley Memorial Basketball Classic

Back in 1977, four veteran Ohio Valley basketball coaches decided that the concept of a high school All-Star game similar to the highly successful football contest, was a very practical idea. And so, Earl Haberfield of Wheeling, Dick Potts of River, Henry "Herk" Lazasz of Wheeling, and Bobby Dawson of Wellsburg sat down and worked up the format of what would become the OVAC All-Star Basketball Classic.

Earl Haberfield was chosen as the game's first director. The committee enlisted the support of Ogden coaches to help underwrite the game, and booked the Wheeling Civic Center for the location, hoping to pack the arena. However, the only problem was that the game had been scheduled for June. Due to the rules of the West Virginia Secondary Schools Activities Commission, Mountain State schools could not participate without losing their eligibility in other sports. As the game was a novelty, the Classic did not draw the 1700 fans witness the Valley's finest, but the late timing soon began to dwindle the interest of spectators.

Over the years, due to expenses and availability of the game was played at St. John Arena, Wheeling High School, Bellaire High School, Wheeling College, West Virginia Wesleyan University, and Buckeye Local High School. Although the game always showcased some of the best hardcourt performers, other problems surfaced. Over the years, the game underwent several changes, and as the interest in the game became greater, the need to have two games for the boys and two games for the girls became apparent. In 1978, West Virginia schools, being smaller in number, had difficulty finding enough quality players, while Ohio schools had more players than they needed.

Another change in the program came in 1982 when Earl Haberfield left the area to coach in northern Ohio. In his place, leaving, however, the committee made a wise move by giving over the directorship to Gene Ammirante of Wheeling. Under his leadership, the game became more competitive and competitive.

Gene Ammirante ran the game until 1987 when, due to increasing work load, he resigned the contest to Clyde Potts of Steubenville Catholic Central who guided the game for two years. The game was then directed by John Dawson of Wellsburg. After a one-year tenure, the game faced serious problems, as no one wanted to assume the directorship. Also facing financial problems, the game more than needed strong leadership. With that in mind, only one name was obvious - Ammirante. Under his direction for the next five years, the game made tremendous changes. First, the game was placed back on strong financial footing.

The second change came in the form of strong leadership of the OVAC Executive Secretary, Sam Dawson, who took it upon himself, with the assistance of the completion of the regular basketball season. After numerous trips to Charleston and hours of phone conversations and lobbying, the game was approved. Starting with the 1990 contest, the game would be moved to April.

Because of his dedication to the Conference and his unselfish support of the Classic, the committee decided to change the name of the Classic to the Samuel A. Mumley Memorial Basketball Classic.

The format was changed to one boys' game and one girls' game and a Conference cheering competition was added. Through the hard work and efforts, not to mention the enthusiasm, of Linda Alexander of Paden City, the cheering clinic was a success from the first year. Although all 44 OVAC schools chose not to participate, the Championship brought hundreds of cheerleaders before the Valley fans to show them that cheering was a bona fide sport.

With the 1994 Classic, two more changes took place. First, Tom Rataiczak of Bellaire High School, who had served as program director for fifteen years, took over as Game Director. With this came the inception of a coaches' clinic held prior to the game and a luncheon for the players and their parents. One of the best decisions made was moving the game to the campus of Wheeling Jesuit College and their beautiful facilities. The game was held there for seven years. This change not only established a home for the Classic, but allowed its players and cheerleaders to enjoy a major college experience without leaving the Valley.

The 1995 Classic saw three more adjustments. First, the coaches' clinic was dropped, as its timing ran too close to the NCAA Tournament and the availability of quality college coaches. Second, it was decided to begin honoring a coach who pioneered in the establishment of girls' basketball as a sport. The third reason was perhaps the most noticeable. After three years, the cheerleading advisors decided to branch out on their own and move the competition to November.

In 1997, reaching its twentieth anniversary, the advent of a reunion team was created. Thirty plus athletes from the original all-star game returned to initiate an annual 20th-year reunion.

A big change in 1998 was the game being broadcast on Channel 7 live TV. The live broadcasts continued through 2003. Unfortunately, the game will not be on TV this year.

Even though the All-Star game has undergone a lot of change, one fact remains constant: it continues to showcase the finest basketball talent the Ohio Valley has to offer.

Ohio University Eastern's Ney Center now offers us a beautiful facility in Eastern Ohio to carry on the tradition. We welcome you today, and hope you enjoy these contests. 60 of Ohio and West Virginia best senior basketball players of the Class of 2004 are ready to showcase their talents.
