"THE STATS" — Above, Front Row: Kim Donahue, Lori Shriver, Bobbie Jo Olexa; Back Row: Sharon Robinson, Tammy McCabs. Below right: Thomas E. Rataiczak, varsity scorekeeper, head statistician.

You can't miss them, for the second they walk into a gym, the place brightens up.. Whether outfitted in the traditional red and black or sporting the latest in fashion, "The Stats" are noticed. If you observe them during a game, you will notice they are extremely well-mannered, courteous, attentive, and very supportive of the Big Reds. They are an integral part of the team, for not only do they add class to the program, they record every move the players make on the court.

Started eleven years ago, the "Stats" are responsible for charting field goals made and attempted, offensive defensive rebounds, assists, type of turnovers, jump balls, rejects, and charges drawn. These stats are kept for both home and visiting teams. But their job doesn't stop there. They make scrapbooks, paint the gym floor, research records, do errands for the staff, decorate lockerrooms, sell programs, assist with the OVAC Basketball Classic. But that's not the most important part of their job.

Through it all, they are ladies. They dress with class, work with class, conduct themselves with class. They are class. Often imitated, they can never be duplicated. No other school in the Valley can claim a program of stats like Bellaire High School, for no other school has a group of ladies like them. They are fast becoming one of the most recognized and respected groups around the basketball circuit. They are "The Stats."
