STEVE KISH
Principal

On behalf of Bellaire High School, it gives me extreme pleasure to welcome you to Nelson Field for today's contest. The 1987 football season affords us an opportunity to honor past Bellaire High School athletes and supporters of our athletic programs through the fifth annual Hall of Fame/Wall of Fame game to be held September 12. In addition, past cheerleaders, football captains, and band members will participate in our Homecoming festivities of October 17. We are very proud of all Bellaire High School alumni and are endeavoring to continue the proud tradition through our athletic and academic offerings. We welcome fans of the opposing squad and hope that you enjoy the game today. We wish you a safe trip home.

Please don't curse that boy down there;
He is my son, you see:
He's only just a boy you know,
He means the world to me.

I did not raise my son, dear fan,
For you to call him names:
He may not be a super-star
And these are high school games.

So, please don't knock those boys down there
They do the best they can;
They've never tried to lose a game,
They're boys, and you're a man.

This game belongs to them, you see,
You're really just a guest;
They do not need a fan that gripes,
They need the very best.

If you have nothing nice to say,
Please leave the boys alone,
And, if you've forgot your manners,
Why don't you stay at home!!

So, please don't curse those boys down there
Each one's his parents' son,
And win or lose or tie, you see,
To us, they're number one!!!!!!!

The Birth of the Band

The story of how Bellaire High got into the band business is rather unique, the result of an embarrassment inflicted on the school by a character-about-town named Stokes Minnehan; school officials were embarrassed but most of the town's residents were amused. We've told you this story a long time ago, but since then there have been new generations who may not have heard it, so we ask those of you who know the story to bear with us. In those days of the 1920s Bellaire and Wheeling played an annual Thanksgiving Day football classic so all-important that most everything in the two towns came to a stop on that day; families built their Thanksgiving dinners around the game, and the Island Stadium where the battle was culminated was filled to standing-room-only well before kickoff. Wheeling High paraded with pride its splendid band, magnificently attired in sparkling gold and blue uniforms, and for years Bellaire fans who had no such asset could only glare and grumble and mutter, until Stokes decided that the town should have a band, and so from his hangout in Reed Rosser's Smokehouse, one of the town's gambling establishments, he planned his coup.

Neither music nor marching was a requirement for membership in Stoke's band; all that was necessary was a desire and a fortification of pickhandle, an especially potent form of just-about drinkable alcohol highly distributed and easily available in those days of Prohibition. Stokes found a pair of knee-high boots and a baton in the classic style of John Phillip Sousa, about five feet high with a ball about the size of a softball on top. Because of the lack of formal organization, Stoke's band had few legitimate musicians, only a scattering of musical instruments, and a lot of kazoo players, but they did learn only two songs, "Hail, Hail, The Gang's All Here" and "Bellaire Will Shine Tonight" and when they played them what they lacked in musicianship they made up in enthusiasm and noise. Their marching also left a lot to be desired, orderly lines were non-existent, but nobody minded the straggling mob effect. On Thanksgiving Day of 1928 Stokes "marched," if that's the word, his band onto the turf of the Island Stadium, and after Big Reds' quarterback Katz Kadlic threw a touchdown pass to give Bellaire a 7-6 victory, the band decided to march all the way back to Bellaire, but not all of them made it; the day and the excitement was taking its toll, but Stokes led most of them back down old Ohio 7 along the streetcar tracks into town.

Yunko Petronek was just a kid in his early teens when he was one of the kazoo players; he remembers the march back and some of its incidents. Non-drummer Alie Jones, another of Stokes' about-town contemporaries, had borrowed a bass drum from Dave Ault who played drums in a dance band. Alie was less than five feet tall and the drum wasn't much shorter, and by the time the band had made it from the Island Stadium to the Bridgeport Bridge, Alie had had enough, so he pitched Dave's drum across the railing in the Ohio River backwater and came the rest of the way home unhindered. It was that kind of a band; you really didn't have to be dedicated, only enthusiastic. There was another time when Stokes took his band out onto the field at old Riverview Park, the homestead of the Reds, and the School Superintendent J.V. Nelson, a hard, straight-laced administrator with a strong Puritan streak, demanded of former Fire Chief Charlie Jewell who was helping Constable Jim Jeffers with security that Charlie put the band off the field. "Not me," firmly replied Charley, "you do it yourself; Stokes got more friends in this crowd than you have." It was that kind of a town, too.

Stokes was one of those adult people who in the fall lived or died depending on the rise or fall of the Big Reds' footballers, and he was so envious of Wheeling which paraded an honest-to-gosh band bedecked in the school colors of gold and blue when the two teams met on Thanksgiving Day while Bellaire was band-less that he organized his own rabble-in-arms to represent Bellaire. Bellaire school officials, particularly iron-willed Superintendent J.V. Nelson, came to the conclusion that the only way to get rid of Stokes' band was to organize its own. At that same time Dan Archibald owned a hardware store in the building now occupied by the Medinah Grotto on Belmont Street. Dan was a musician of much talent, self-taught on piccolo and flute of sufficient expertise to occupy the first chair in the Wheeling and the Pittsburgh Symphony, to teach music at Rollins College in Florida for a time, and to play in a number of marching bands, including the legendary Heatherington Elks Band which acquired a considerable tri-statewide reputation well beyond its native Eastern Ohio.

Dan's son Alvin was in the upper grades in Bellaire's Gravel Hill Elementary School, and had been playing the piccolo and flute, under his dad's instruction, since the tender age of about ten. When school officials began to agitate under Stokes' prodding, Dan started music classes for boys who might be interested in joining the high School band if and when. The school hired college-trained Francis Bechtolt as its first music instructor and band director, and Bechtolt joined with Dan during the 1927 school year to begin forming the band for its first-ever appearance in the fall of 1928. There were 55 boys in that first band -- girls weren't granted membership until several years later, shades of NOW and Gloria Steinem! -- and 90 percent of them didn't know one music note from another. But Dan and Bechtolt pushed, shoved, cussed, threatened, cajoled, literally pounding music into young heads day after day, long hour after hour until a lot of parents and kids thought maybe it was a mistake to start.

When Bellaire opened the football season of 1928 against St. Clairsville at old Riverview Park north of town, the inaugural Big Reds' band paraded onto the field for the national anthem, resplendent in red and black uniforms, including capes that were red on one side and black on the other. Charley Bomer, who drove a city fire truck before he retired to Florida some years back, led the band as its first drum major, wielding a Sousa-like baton, and the crowd stomped and shouted with such appreciative abandon that the wooden bleachers on the home side shook and shuddered, threatening to collapse and drop everybody in a heap. Tom Myers was among the 55 Firsters--Tom's mother had been a piano teacher, had taught the art to Tom when he was still a very youngster, and Tom later switched to violin, so it wasn't very difficult for Tom to learn the trumpet for Bechtolt. Eddie Johnson who years later would play the xylophone in his own Eddie Johnson Trio in clubs around here, and still later would have his own orchestra at a resort hotel in the Bahamas, marched with that first band, as did Bob Phillips who would become a high school band director in his later years, and George Heil who went into his dad's furniture business in Bellaire, and Don Miller who became superintendent of schools in Shadyside, and Bill Shunk who as a kid a few years earlier had played the snare drum in Stoke's band--Bill's dad was diver John Shunk who went about the country recovering bodies of drowning victims because he had an unusual knack of knowing just where to dive, whether in familiar or strange waters.

How good was that first band? In the spring of 1929, its first year of competition at the District contest at East Liverpool, the band took first place in both music and marching, a feat that succeeding Big Reds' bands have never duplicated, and five of its members, Archibald, Warren Timberlake, Edgar Wise, Phillips, and Tom Musgat, were selected to play in the Ohio State Fair band. And on that Memorial Day in 1929, the band played a full concert in full woolen uniforms in the City Park, despite the 98-degree heat: "The sweat just poured off me, and I thought I'd melt away and die before it was over," recalls Tom. Although he graduated that spring, Tom came back to play two more years in the band; several others did that also, including Bill Shunk and Alvin Archibald, and Charley Bomer too came back to lead the band again the next year.

The Bellaire High Alumni Association has invited all former Big Reds' band members to join the present band for the fall homecoming --how many of those original people will be back is problematical. One who would like to return is Alvin Archibald, but he can't. "I'd give my eyeteeth for a chance, but it's impossible," explains Alvin. "A couple years ago in a home accident I lost part of a finger, the finger that's most important in playing the flute, so now I can only dream and remember." He doesn't even have his flute; when he lost that part of his finger and knew he would never play again, he gave his musical instruments to his granddaughter, Kristi Shaver, who is playing in the Rider College band, after having performed with the prize-winning Roxbury, N.J. High band. Kristi is quite an accomplished musician, the fifth-generation fluteplayer in the Archibald family musical lineage; her mother and her aunt played in the Shadyside High band, and the flute that her grandad Alvin gave her is a wooden instrument originally owned by Alvin's grandad, who taught Alvin's dad Dan the artistry. There may be 55 other stories like Alvin's that those original Big Reds' band members can tell, if they're still alive; but whatever, wherever he is Stokes Minnehan can well be proud of the unusual part he played in starting the Bellaire High band, despite the headaches he inflicted on J.V. Nelson.

—by Jimmy Mountain
TIMES LEADER Columnist

[The above story was reprinted with permission of Mr. Mountain from his columns that appeared on August 2 and August 9, 1987. We thank him for his vivid memory of Bellaire's proud past.]

Bellaire High has realized this year one of her highest ambitions; namely, the organization of a band. Although she has been represented by a fine orchestra for a number of years, she has never had a band. A High School Band promotes school spirit, sportsmanship and good music and no school is complete without one. Having realized this, plans were laid for the organization by the Board of Education.

Under the supervision of Mr. Bechtolt, instruments were purchased by the members, with the exception of several of the large bass pieces, which were purchased at the expense of the High School. We have held individual practices, and this method has been a great help in getting started. Will it be a success? There is no doubt in this case for each one is doing his best. It will be no time until Bellaire High School has one of the best Bands in the Ohio Valley. So let's all get behind the band and give encouragement where it is due and also to boost it to the limit for old B.H.S. [Reprinted from the 1929 BELJUAN concerning the Class of 1928]

Last year a new teacher was introduced as the director of the orchestra and boys' glee club who played us a fine little trombone solo. Seven or eight months later at the Spring Concert a band made up of boys from the High School made its initial appearance with the orchestra and glee clubs. During our 1928 football season the band turned out each Saturday in a snappy colorful set of uniforms and rendered very pleasing music. Then the band played in chapel one morning and gave us a fine rendition of a concert waltz which was well received by the student body. Later the band made a radio appearance and received many congratulations. The band also gave a concert for the Elk's club of Bellaire. Pretty popular, eh? Finally in the Spring Concert the band was successfully represented individually and wholly. This year that trombonist, Mr. Bechtolt, is known all over the Valley as the man who gave Bellaire High the best band in the vicinity, a band of which the student body and faculty would be proud.

Welcome Back, Cheerleaders

This marks the first attempt of the Alumni Association to welcome back the former cheerleaders. With little more than the maiden names listed in the BELJUAN to go on, it was a very arduous task to locate all the present addresses. In the event that anyone was overlooked, we apologize. Please let us know, as we plan to do this again in five years, and we'd like to include you.

Today we welcome back over 80 former cheerleaders who were directly responsible for keeping the spirit alive at BHS. We hope you enjoy the reunion and afternoon.

"An Ode To Cheerleaders"
We'll gather at Nelson Field soon
With others from our past
To cheer our team to victory
From the first play to the last.

We've cheered out in the sunshine
And cheered through snow and rain
In triumph and also defeat,
Through sweet success and pain.

Cheerleaders come and cheerleaders go
But of one thing you can be certain;
We'll just keep right on cheering
Til they ring the final curtain!

AN OPEN LETTER

TO: Big Reds' Fans

FROM: Bellaire Big Reds Touchdown Club

Each year, the Big Reds Touchdown Club assists the athletic program in many ways. This assistance allows our athletic department to do many things that would otherwise be impossible. It takes a great deal of hard work by our club to raise the money needed for these various projects. One of the most recent undertakings has been the resurfacing of the track. This project alone will cost $7200 and is used and enjoyed by many members of the community in addition to our athletic teams. Therefore, we are asking that any individual who would like to assist in this effort please send a donation to the Touchdown Club at P.O. Box 234.

We have always enjoyed tremendous support from the people of Bellaire and look forward to your continued support in the future. Over the years, many of you have lent your backing to the club without being active members. We thought you might like to know how YOUR money is being spent. The following is a list of our major expenses over the past fourteen months:

Track resurfacing.....	7200.00
Equipment for all sports.....	8645.00
Uniforms (boys' and girls' track, baseball, softball).....	1700.00
Aftergame meals and banquets.....	2815.00
Touchdown Club Scholarship.....	1000.00
Awards.....	390.00
Training room equipment.....	450.00
Program ads (Dapper Dan, OVAC, District).....	450.00
Gym Banners.....	185.00
Summer basketball league fees.....	150.00
TOTAL.....	$22, 985.00

At this time, we would also like to thank the many club members who assisted in the renovation of the press box. Your many hours of service are greatly appreciated.

Once again, the Touchdown Club would like to thank all of the fine people who have aided us in our effort to support the athletic programs of Bellaire High School. We hope that you enjoy and support all of our athletic teams during the 1987-1988 school year.

Sincerely,
The Big Reds Touchdown Club

GOOD LUCK BIG REDS
