

IT WAS A MEMORABLE evening for Atty. Kelly Archer who was recognized for his 31 years of service as caretaker of the unique Bippus Banquet which annually honors the Bellaire High football team. Archer's association with the fete ended this year and the banquet was held Wednesday night for the first time under the auspices of the Bellaire High Sports Foundation. Archer was presented with several commendations and this clock plaque during festivities. From left, are Atty. Dave Librati of the Sports Foundation who served as toastmaster; Atty. Archer; Dennis Pogary, former Big Red standout who returned from his Illinois home to deliver the principal address; and Big Red head coach John Magistro.
